

Ruth V. Fisher Lecture Series 2004

June 16    Brendan Buckley. Reading the Past from Old Wood

Brendan is one of the world's experts on climate change. He will tell us how our climate has changed in the past centuries, how scientists know that, and what this tells us about societies that suddenly appeared or disappeared on the world scene.

June 30    David Goudy, Solo Kayaking.

Last summer David, director of the Montshire Museum in Norwich, Vt., kayaked the entire length of the Connecticut River—alone. He will tell us about this journey.

July 14    John and Valerie Hession. Wild Flowers of the White Mts.

August 11    Tom Burack. Land Conservation Policy and Practice

Tom is a director of NH Audubon, and the chair of the committee that established LCHIP. He also masquerades as Audubon himself from time to time.

August 25    Bryan Pfeiffer. Dragonflies and Butterflies

Ever seen a Great Spangled Fritillary? How about a Cherry-faced Meadowhawk? In stories and colorful slides, author and naturalist Bryan Pfeiffer will reveal the delights of watching butterflies, dragonflies and other sparkling insects. Bryan will discuss the tools and tricks you'll need for close (real close) and enjoyable encounters with these bright wings of summer. You'll even learn the racy details of dragonfly romance and butterfly foreplay.

Programs begin at 7:00 o'clock in the evening at the Quincy Bog Nature Center located on Quincy Bog Road, off Quincy Road, in Rumney, New Hampshire. See sidebar for a link to a yahoo interactive map to help guide you to the Nature Center. These programs, sponsored by the Ruth V. Fisher Fund, are free and open to the public. Light refreshments are served after each talk. For further information or directions, phone Jody Young at 603 786-9053.
